“ Ann was a close friend of my sister, Betty Bartel Adams and a neighbor, one street over from our house. I was two years younger than they were but Ann always included me when she was at our house. She was loved by everybody who knew her with a personality that warmly welcomed others. I remember watching her as a majorette in the school band and also as an enthusiastic cheerleader for ECHS. How fortunate I was to have known her. I am sure she is leading the band in God's Heaven and no longer in pain. God's Grace covers her. She will be missed by many. My heart is with her devoted husband, Bill. With love, Aimee Bartel Allen

Like my sister Aimee, I first knew Ann as a neighbor and our sister Betty's best friend. Ann and Bill's wedding was the first Catholic wedding I went to. I was ten-years-old. The service was one loong magical mystery tour to this Cradle Episcopalian.

My next Catholic wedding was 10-years later. It was MINE and was just as long and confusing to me. There was no rehearsal. (Not in Atmore or even Alabama.)

When we moved back to Atmore in 1998, I was thrilled to realize we lived across E. Laurel Street from Ann and Bill. We still do. Ann never forgot anyone's birthday and always took goodies to friends, family, and neighbors at Xmas.

The one thing left out of her obituary was that she had, for decades, made her special "Ann Staff's Famous Cake" for St Robert's Fall Festival each year. It was a great money-maker because they raffled it off and everyone wanted a chance to win.

She was sweet and FUNNY, thoughtful, and a little bit crazy like the Bartel family. Our parents adored Ann, too. She will be missed by all who knew her. Our thoughts and prayers will be with Bill and ALL the Staff family and, of course, with her biological sister.
Fondly, Bonnie Bartel Latino

Y'all, thanks to both sisters for saying it perfectly. I have tried and tried to do justice to Ann's memory, but my mind is shattered right now. I cannot imagine life without my darling friend in it. I am relieved that her pain is now over and she is well.

My sister, Ann, was so brave. I can't believe she is gone, but I know she is in Heaven and finally at peace. As Betty Bartel Adams posted, I can't adequately express my thoughts now - as the remaining oldest sister. We shared great times - growing up during WW II and after, attending Escambia County High School, as striving good students, as majorettes, and as the closest of friends until I found boys. Ann was so excited that, although I lost the Student Council Presidency to Marvin King, she became the first girl to win the next year or so. I left Atmore after graduation. I was matron of honor in Ann and Bill's wedding. Ann insisted that our 2 1/2 year old son, John Jr., be the ring bearer. Of course, Ann picked beautiful emerald green (always her favorite color) for bridesmaids' dresses. Ann was always so beautiful, outgoing and spoke her mind. I'm so proud our upbringing was in Catholicism. We both attended Catholic Colleges, married wonderful men, had four children, and had breast cancer. at 89, I am a survivor. Ann insisted that I come to Atmore (while she was Secretary to the Mayor and later employed at the bank) during October when breast cancer month was celebrated. Ann selected me to join her when we attended Alabama (Roll Tide) games in Atlanta and Hawaii. We shared many of the same hobbies, but she was always the better cook. I am so fortunate to have had her as my sister. With much love and sorrow, I know she is with our Blessed Lord, Helene Hoehn Taylor (Mrs. John S.)

My sincere condolences to the Ann Staff family! She was a treasured friend and student council member also. I like Helen also ran for president (and lost) but will always remember her encouragement!

Moma Ann will be missed, she is in a much better place. I grew up traveling base to base during my childhood. But every summer my siblings and I would visit my grandma in Atmore. We would hangout at Bill and Ann's house with Leslie, Spears, Bill and Susan. We were always treated as one of her own.

Ann's was as big as life itself. She always had a genuine smile and hugs.

Again she will be missed.

Ann Staff was a true example of a Southern Lady. She was kind, sweet, tough when she needed to be, ever so proper , and that I know of she was willing to help you . A lesson that she taught me and I will never forget. One day while I was in the bank waiting to get some checks signed , we had a conversation about different things. She said to me, “. What are know for a fact is that life is like a pie. It doesn't matter how many pieces you slice it into, the outcome is the same.

Time and pieces of pie have no reward for what's has been appointed.”

To this day the have quoted that many times and still think the f her each time. Rest Ms. Ann, you have deserved it and I hope there is plenty of makeup in Heaven. You always looked stunning!
