“ My Jessica who was a neighbor, friend & turned into my sister. When Jessica and I met in Pace Florida, we all thought where is this girl from? By the second time coming over, I would jump up to get the door and Jessica would just walk on in through the front door. We all thought it was so strange but later realized it came from being raised in the country! It was so funny to tease her about this later in life.

Jessica never cussed, or sang song lyrics when music played. I became to look up to Jessica because she never cussed, even as wild teenagers (this changed way later in life). Jessica's friends became my friends, and her friends would be a friend of mine too! The kindness Jessica showed to strangers, was admirable. If someone was broke down on the side of the road, her first words were "let's ask them if they need any help!"

A funny life lesson I remember so well, I was vacuuming my grandma's carpet and Jessica came in and saw me struggling, she took the vacuum and said "look you have to feel which way the carpet goes" ever since that lesson I have vacuumed carpet with her always in my mind about the tiny trick no one ever told me.

Jess aka Jay I miss you deeply, and your 23 years of friendship is something I can cherish. Not many adults can say they still have the same best friend even at 33 years old. This speaks volume to Jessica's loyalty and compassion for others.

"Get out your feelings L" plays over and over in my head now, because she would always tell me this about any doubts I shared with her.

Long live your memory and now we will all miss you SO much, you are loved by so many Jay.

Love, Allisa "L" Garrett
