He was an active member of St. Anna's Episcopal Church of Poarch, Alabama. Larry loved to spend time with his family on vacations, watching the Braves, and Auburn football.

Alia French of Atmore, AL and Abigail Whitaker of Pensacola, FL, who were always by his side.

Today, we gather to honor and remember Larry “Wimp” Faircloth, a truly unforgettable person whose life touched each of us in ways we will never forget. Though we are faced with sadness, we also hold in our hearts the many memories we shared with him.

Larry was more than just a friend; he was a son, husband, father, brother, cousin, and friend to many people. From the very first time you met Larry; you could tell there was something special about him. There was an instant connection, bond, and commitment that was indescribable. Whether you needed a listening ear, a shoulder to lean on, or a moment of laughter to brighten your day, Larry was the go-to person. What everyone admired most about Larry was their genuine friendship. He was an authentic, loyal, and true friend to many. In a world where it’s easy to lose sight of what matters, Larry always thought the best of everyone, believed in second chances, and always had your back.

Though today we mourn the loss of Larry, let us also celebrate the incredible person everyone knew. Let us carry forward his legacy of friendship, laughter, and support in our own lives. The world is a little dimmer without Larry, but we are all blessed to have been part of his life.

Larry, we will miss you more than words can express. You may no longer walk among us, but your memory will forever live on in our hearts.

We love you, and we will never forget you.

Rest in peace, Wimp

“Family isn’t always defined by blood; sometimes, it’s the people who show up for you in ways that words can’t express. Larry, believed in this kind of love.
