“ Pausing to post an adequate remembrance has proven difficult as we approach 7 days since your passing. The difficulty being appropriate words to convey the magnitude of Aunt Nell’s impact on me and so many other lives. Her’s is an impact with no end; the legacy she leaves will live on beyond my lifetime. I have and will continue to pass along lessons and contributions she made in countless ways. This impact extends far beyond the physical, it extends into an immeasurable emotional love without peer. In reflection, there just aren’t suitable words to describe the treasure her life has meant to me personally.

Rest peacefully Aunt Nell, Heaven is now a richer place to have your presence; Love You!

“ There has never been a more beautiful fun sassy Southern Lady that has influenced my life more than Aunt Nell. When Greg Turberville and I started dating, she and Uncle Buck Buck took me in and welcomed me immediately. We spent many dates at their home where Uncle Buck Buck would grill the best steaks to perfection. One of my cherished recipes is her famous Fruitcake. I finally pinned her down on the phone one day and took detailed instructions on how to make that delicious fruitcake. Her fudge and pecan cookies too. And she’s famous for the best mac and cheese. She was very outspoken and did not know what a whisper was. Always had a peppermint and tissue ready at church. She opened her home for me and my bridesmaids to get dressed on my wedding day. So many precious memories. I love you Aunt Nell. You are now with your best friend Uncle Buck Buck. RIP and I am forever grateful for you.
