“ She was such a great lady! She was a big part of my childhood when things were rough in our family. I spent a Christmas with her. Her favorite thing to do on a Saturday was hit those early morning yard sales, and I loved going with her. I remember Christmas shopping with her one year and when we got back in the car a Christmas song was on that I started lip syncing. She thought it was hilarious, a belly laugh. And no one will ever beat her biscuits. Even though I didn't see her much as I became an adult, Taz will always remember what she did for her as a child.
